Queensland Government
Novated Leasing Panel Provider

Effective March 1 2024, Alliance Leasing are one of the newly appointed Queensland Government Novated Leasing Panel Providers under Standing Offer Arrangement QGP0066-23

Why?

The 10-year strategy reaffirms our commitment to support Queensland's shift to zero net emissions by 2050 through the following targets:

- ✓ 50% of new passenger vehicle sales to be zero emission by 2030, moving to 100% by 2036
- ✓ Government incentives in place to save you thousands on a new EV through novated leasing

Queenslanders will benefit from:

- ✓ Improved air quality
- ✓ Quieter neighbourhoods and streets
- ✓ Improved health for our community and the broader environment.

Eligible Vehicles

To qualify for the EV exemption, a vehicle must:

- ✓ Be fully electric;
- ✓ First held and used on or after 1 July 2022; and
- ✓ The vehicle value has not triggered luxury car tax.

This initiative aims to support environmental sustainability and reduce greenhouse gas emissions by making electric vehicles more accessible. Note: Plugin hybrid electric vehicles (PHEV) were also included initially but will be phased out from 1 April 2025. To clarify a common question, many vehicles are marketed as hybrid electric but are not able to be charged via a plugin option and so will not qualify for the exemption.

Reasons to Switch to EV

- ✓ Say goodbye to rising fuel costs
- ✓ A multitude of makes and models are now applicable for the FBT exemption
- ✓ FBT exemption applies to Battery Electric, Hydrogen Fuel Cell Electric and Plug-In Hybrid Electric Vehicles
- ✓ No GST to pay on the purchase price or runnings costs of your EV
- ✓ Every dollar is deducted pre-tax on applicable EV's

Overview of the FBT exemption

The EV exemption is a policy designed to encourage the adoption of electric vehicles by offering favourable tax treatment under novated lease arrangements. This exemption can significantly reduce the Fringe Benefits Tax (FBT) liability for employers and employees, making electric vehicles an attractive and cost effective option.

Reportable Fringe Benefits

While electric vehicles enjoy an exemption from the standard Fringe Benefits Tax (FBT), it's essential to note that a Reportable Fringe Benefit calculation is still required for these vehicles.

For employers, this means that while you can offer electric vehicles as a tax-efficient benefit to your employees, you must still perform an reportable fringe benefit calculation to determine if a reportable fringe benefit amount needs to be reported to the ATO.

While a RFBA is not itself taxable, it does form part of an employee's adjusted taxable income which can impact various income tests and other government benefits and obligations.
